"Ours,"—Coschman (on being told by his lordship that he will not want to drive out to-day): Well, me lord, then perhaps I had better take our children out? His Lordship: Now, Johnson, look here; I don't mind you saying our carriage, our 'orses, or our 'ouse, but I must draw the line—and I draw it at our children.—Fun.

Scotch professor in the University of Edinburgh was experimenting before his pupils with some combustible substances, when, as he was mixing them, they exploded, shattering the vial which he held into fragments. He held up a small piece of glass, and said, very gravely, "Gentle-men, I have made this experiment often with this very same vial, and never knew it to break in my hands before."
